

Courts to work at full capacity for second year to deliver swifter justice for victims

Courts will continue working at full capacity to speed up justice as the cap on sitting days is lifted for another year, the government announced today (21 April 2022).