

Culture Secretary sets out plans to turbocharge the economic impact of British filmmaking

Culture Secretary Lisa Nandy has today laid legislation in Parliament introducing a new tax relief for independent British films to boost the growth of the UK's world class film sector.