

Cutting edge prosthetics with improved sense of touch among 100 new discovery projects to receive government funding

Researchers from across the UK backed to advance projects which could spark new life-changing developments.