

Data centres to be given massive boost and protections from cyber criminals and IT blackouts

Data including vital NHS, financial, and personal smartphone data is set to be safer from cyber attacks, environmental disasters, and IT blackouts as part of government's drive for economic growth.