

Data collection on external wall systems: letter to housing associations

This letter from Neil O'Connor (Director, Building Safety Programme) asks housing associations to undertake a data collection exercise on the buildings they are responsible for. The purpose of the data collection is to gather information on the external wall systems used on high rise residential buildings.