

Defence tech start up opens UK headquarters in boost for industry

An Estonian tech start up manufacturing low-cost air defence missiles is expected to open a new UK headquarters, delivering on the Prime Minister's Plan for Change.