

Depositing and accessing AGS and geotechnical data

The BGS is actively working to promote the greater understanding of the subsurface, with the development of new data donation and data access services in conjunction with industry partners and the stakeholder community.