

Deputy Prime Minister to boost economic defences against threats to British economic model

Deputy Prime Minister warns UK is “in cyber and economic contestation with an increasing range of state and non-state actors”.