

DE&S-led expertise set to revolutionise development of UK military robotics

Development of innovative robotic equipment to give the UK military an operational advantage will be accelerated by a specialist organisation.