

DH clinics to maintain normal daytime service

The Department of Health (DH) announced that its day clinics are opened and services will in general maintain normal today (October 8).

If those with appointments may not be able to attend their scheduled consultation due to possible traffic disruptions at various districts, they can call the clinics to reschedule the appointments later. There is no need to worry and rush for the consultation appointments.

Depending on transportation arrangements and situation in individual districts, the evening service of some DH clinics including dental clinics, chest clinics and methadone clinics could be adjusted today. Separate announcements will be made if necessary.
