

Digital skills rebrand to attract top tech talent to Civil Service

A new brand, Government Digital and Data, has been launched today to bring together the growing number of digital and tech specialists working in government to improve public services in the long-term.