

Dmitry Medvedev congratulated Prime Minister of Algeria Ahmed Ouyahia on Algeria's national holiday, Revolution Day

The message reads, in part:

"Russia and Algeria enjoy friendly, partnership relations; this was confirmed by our talks in Algeria on 9-10 October 2017.

"I am sure that the further strengthening of trade, economic, investment, research, technological and cultural and humanitarian interaction, and the implementation of large joint projects in energy, industry, infrastructure and other areas meet the long-term interests our countries."
