

Dorset farmer's leaky silage clamp kills fish in river

More than 400 fish were killed because a Dorset farm owner was unaware effluent from his silage clamp was discharging into a river.