

Drought investment must remain priority, experts urge

The National Drought Group reiterates importance of sectors continuing to plan and invest for all weather events, despite third wettest autumn this century.