

DSIT bolsters its leadership team to drive UK's science and tech superpower mission

Leading experts have been appointed to oversee the department's work to transform the UK into a science and technology superpower.