

Efforts to counter the proliferation and misuse of commercial spyware: joint statement

The governments of 11 countries, including the UK, issued a statement on the need for domestic and international controls on commercial spyware technology.