

Environment Agency gets ready for winter

The Environment Agency in the North East is preparing for winter in a series of training sessions to make sure they are ready to respond to incidents.