

Winners of the BBSRC Innovator of the Year 2018 International Impact category

Congratulations to Professor Martin Broadley (Biosciences, UoN) and Dr Louise Ander (Inorganic Geochemistry, BGS) were announced as winners of the BBSRC Innovator of the Year 2018 International Impact category for their work on GeoNutrition: spatial aspects of hidden hunger.

Aquaculture in Lake Victoria – challenges for the industry

Congratulations to Tracey Coffey, Sharon Egan, Suzanne McGowan, Murray Lark, Odipo Osano, Christopher Aura, Andrew Marriott, Greg Sambrook Smith, Iseult Lynch and Stefan Krause on their successful GCRF Multidisciplinary Challenge–led research project ‘Aquaculture in Lake Victoria – challenges for the industry’.

Aquaculture in Lake Victoria – Challenges for the industry

Congratulations to Tracey Coffey, Sharon Egan, Suzanne McGowan, Murray Lark, Odipo Osano, Christopher Aura, Andrew Marriott, Greg Sambrook Smith, Iseult Lynch and Stefan Krause on their successful GCRF Multidisciplinary Challenge–led Research Project Aquaculture in Lake Victoria – Challenges for the industry.

BGS welcomes Ólafur Ragnar Grímsson to

the Lyell Centre

The British Geological Survey (BGS) has welcomed former President of Iceland, Ólafur Ragnar Grímsson, to its Scottish base at the Lyell Centre in Edinburgh.

Help us refresh our data website

Call for stakeholder input to Data Products redesign.