

News story: £1 million boost for UK smart waste tracking

Two UK companies awarded share of the government's £20 million GovTech Catalyst fund.

£1 million boost for UK smart waste tracking

Two UK companies awarded share of the government's £20 million GovTech Catalyst fund.

Untapped heat source beneath UK streets could pave the way for greener towns and cities

Natural water in the ground below us could be used as a low-carbon heat source in many UK towns and cities, new research from the British Geological Survey (BGS) says. The public research body is now calling for more research to understand how geothermal technologies could be scaled up across the UK.

Untapped heat source beneath UK streets could pave the way for greener towns and cities

Natural water in the ground below us could be used as a low-carbon heat source in many UK towns and cities, new research from the British Geological Survey (BGS) says. The public research body is now calling for more research to understand how geothermal technologies could be scaled up across the UK.

Guidance: Commons eligibility checks

Everything you need to know about land cover eligibility checks on common land.