

Environmental principles duty comes into force

Under the duty set out in the Environment Act 2021, ministers and policy makers must consider the environmental impact of new policies.