

European infrastructure to support Earth-science research

The European Plate Observing System ([1]EPOS) has been officially launched this week at a ceremony in Rome.