

Expansion of medical school places to be accelerated to next year

Government will expand medical school places a year early, with 205 additional places for the new academic year in 2024, subject to consultation.