

Experts demand accelerated change in multi-agency safeguarding practice

A report assessing data from local safeguarding incidents in England will assist learning and drive improvement to help families and protect children.