

First armed forces families collect keys to new homes at Imjin Barracks

The first armed forces families move into their new homes at Imjin Barracks following the handover of the first wave of properties.