

First space census launches today

First UK space census is launched, surveying the diversity of the UK space sector and collecting insights to inform future space policy