

Fish populations get a festive boost in the West Midlands

Thousands of fish have found new homes in the West Midlands in time for Christmas thanks to the Environment Agency's annual stocking programme.