

Five killed in north China house fire

Five people were killed in a fire that engulfed a house in north China's Inner Mongolia on Saturday.

Firefighters in Ulanqab city received a call at 4:16 a.m. They put out the fire at a residential house about half an hour later, and found five bodies.

Cause of the fire is being investigated.