

Flu vaccine uptake among people aged 65+ on track to be highest on record

Three-quarters (75%) of those aged 65 and over in England received the free vaccine so far this year – up from 72.4% at the end of the last flu season.