

Foreign Office statement on North Korea missile test, November 2019

A Foreign Office spokesperson said:

The UK is concerned about the latest North Korea missile launches. These launches undermine efforts to secure a peaceful future for the Korean Peninsula.

To change the course of its future for the better, North Korea must engage meaningfully with the US in negotiations towards denuclearisation.

Published 28 November 2019