

Further action to cut methane emissions from livestock

Defra has committed to working with industry to reduce methane emissions in livestock through the use of methane-suppressing feed products