

Fusion research partnership agreed between UKAEA and The University of Manchester

The agreement will see new research groups in the key areas of tritium and digital engineering.