

GAD's research on AI and machine learning in actuarial work

The use of artificial intelligence and machine learning in UK actuarial work is growing in importance. The conclusions come from GAD research .