Geospatial Commission-funded tool demonstrates potential for AI to transform decisions about land use

The Geospatial Commission and The Alan Turing Institute are exploring how artificial intelligence can be applied to support decisions about the UK's land.