

Glasgow geothermal project heats up with first borehole

The first borehole is being drilled at the UK Geoenergy Observatory for Glasgow, allowing scientists to 'see' underground at the world-class geothermal energy research site in the east end of the city.

Further information on UKGEOS: UK Geoenergy Observatories