

“Good work is good for health” Work & Pensions and Health Secretaries declare on visit to health and work support service

Liz Kendall and Wes Streeting visit North Central London WorkWell service to see how early health interventions are helping to keep people in work or get them back to work.