

Government announces first steps to reform water sector

Environment Secretary Steve Reed has announced a series of initial steps towards ending the crisis in the water sector.