

Government delivers further expansion of health services to former armed forces personnel

The government has launched a campaign to help improve veterans' access to healthcare services, and opened applications to the £2.52 million Veterans Mobility Fund.