

Government gives £1 million boost to Forestry skills training

Funding has been extended to cover new courses in arboriculture, which cover the care, management and safety of amenity trees.