

Government goes further and faster on planning reform in bid for growth

Chancellor continues bold reform of the planning system to deliver on the Plan for Change for working people.