

Government launches rapid review to meet Environment Act targets

New report shows the dire state of nature and the need for accelerated action