

Government offer to NHS consultants to pave way to end strikes

The offer will invest in modernising the consultants' pay structure – reducing the number of pay points and the time it takes to reach the top