

Government pledges to boost Britain's access to nature ahead of COP28

Government sets out ambitious new nature package, with measures to improve access to green space and connect the public with the natural world