

Government protects education priorities in face of inherited £22 billion blackhole

Chancellor confirms steps to protect education and early years priorities as part of her first Budget.