

Government review to create a more open healthcare system

A new call for evidence launched today aims to capture and consider views about how the duty of candour is honoured, monitored and enforced.