

Government sets out plans to develop the domestic care workforce

The government outlined plans to improve the career prospects of the domestic care workforce through training, qualifications and a clearer, care career path.