

Government takes first steps to fix the foundations and save the NHS

More than £3 billion has been set aside to mend crumbling wards and bring NHS technology into the 21st century.