

Government takes further steps to tackle disruption if strikes called over Christmas

The Government has today taken further steps to ensure essential public services remain open during industrial action.