

Government to crack down on corruption in the property sector

A consultation launched today will ensure greater transparency and tackle corruption in the property sector, by making it clearer who owns land trusts.