

Government to launch new modern slavery research centre

The £10 million policy centre comes as the government responds to the Independent Review into the Modern Slavery Act.