

Grave of missing World War Two soldier identified in Italy

The grave of a Scottish soldier who lost his life in Italy during World War Two has been identified and rededicated 80 years after his death.